Positive qualities and effects of Testosterone Propionate

The processes of gene transcription are activated, which causes a shift in the nitrogen balance in a positive direction. As a result, the processes of hypertrophy of muscle fibers are accelerated:

- Increases the speed of production of IGF;
- All regenerative processes are accelerated;
- Increasing physical parameters;
- Improves the quality of the terrain;
- It can be used as a prophylactic against coronary and coronary heart muscle disease.
Dosage and Administration
Testosterone Propionate

Testosterone Propionate from Dragon Pharma course is very often carried out by novice builders. With its help, they can gain quality mass and get rid of fatty tissues. You should start your first course of the drug with a minimum dose, namely with 50 milligrams. Anabolic administration is necessary every second day.

As a result, you can maintain anabolism in the body at the maximum level throughout the course. Experienced athletes use the drug in an amount of 0.1 grams, while giving injections also after a day. The optimal duration of the course is about six weeks. This length of time is enough to get maximum results. More information about Injectable Steroids.

Combined propionate cycles are very popular among athletes. During the drying period, propionate is mainly combined with trenbolone (acetate), stanozolol, masteron or primobolan. The most popular combination is propionate-winstrol. When conducting combined courses of any AAS, including propionate, you need to follow one rule — the dosages of each anabolic should be calculated so that the total amount does not exceed the recommended dosages for the solo cycle.
